

It's summer time, and the living is easy. What's also easy is to be tempted by those delicious icy fruity beverages that are usually laden with simple sugars and will skyrocket your blood sugar, leading to the crash that follows. The human body is meant to consume fruit as fruit, not juice, and when you take out all the other components, you're going to have problems: all of the sugars with few of the other elements to balance them out. That's why we designed this amazing orange drink that contains as much protein as a 2-egg omelet so you can get your day started right. Why risk sugar-laden juices when you can get Carefully Calibrated alternatives through the Silhouette Solution? Enjoy!

If it's not Carefully Calibrated, it's not your silhouette solution™
